

This week, we have been...

- Remembering, celebrating and responding to the importance of names, and to God who knows each one by name and loves them.

Today, our teacher helped us to make an individual response by welcoming our parents into our first Stay and Play session. We showed our parents our class Religious Education book and then drew pictures of our faces with a welcoming smile on!

We also set our parents a challenge! To see if they could spot as many children displaying welcoming gestures throughout the Stay and Play session! We had a great morning and all of our special visitors did too!
